

Formwork Sales Representative

RMD Australia is the market leader in the design, hire and sale of formwork, shoring and access systems and solutions to the construction and allied industries. After more than fifty years' successful trading, the company now operates through a national network of seventeen branches and through group companies across the world. The organization has a policy of continual development in their people, products and services, and is globally recognized for its excellence in customer service and engineering.

The dynamic Brisbane operation is seeking a Sales Representative to join an established team and become a key player in the planned continued growth of the business.

The successful candidate will ideally have proven ability in achieving results in construction, building or industrial project sales. Applicants with experience within the formwork hire industry will be favoured, however, consideration will be given to applicants from a construction engineering background with the desire and drive to succeed in a demanding, but rewarding, sales career.

Applicants should be able to demonstrate well developed communication and interpersonal skills with the ability to build relationships across all levels within customers' organization. Self motivation and the acumen to identify and follow through on all opportunities from both existing and prospective customer bases is a key requirement of the role.

Terms of employment and salary package, including a fully maintained company vehicle, are commensurate with a large, international company.
